A FINAL LOOK AROUND OUR CAMPUS . . .	101

there's a New Look this year . . .

Students go to the auditorium by way of the new addition for our opening day assembly.

Every year brings with it something new and something that will be remembered. The 1959-1960 school year was no exception. This year brought with it the new look--the new look of optimistic advancement.

This was the year Russia's prime minister, Nikita Krushchev, was entertained by our president, Dwight D. Eisenhower, on his first visit to our country. To an optimistic and advancing world, this could mean peaceful co-existence.

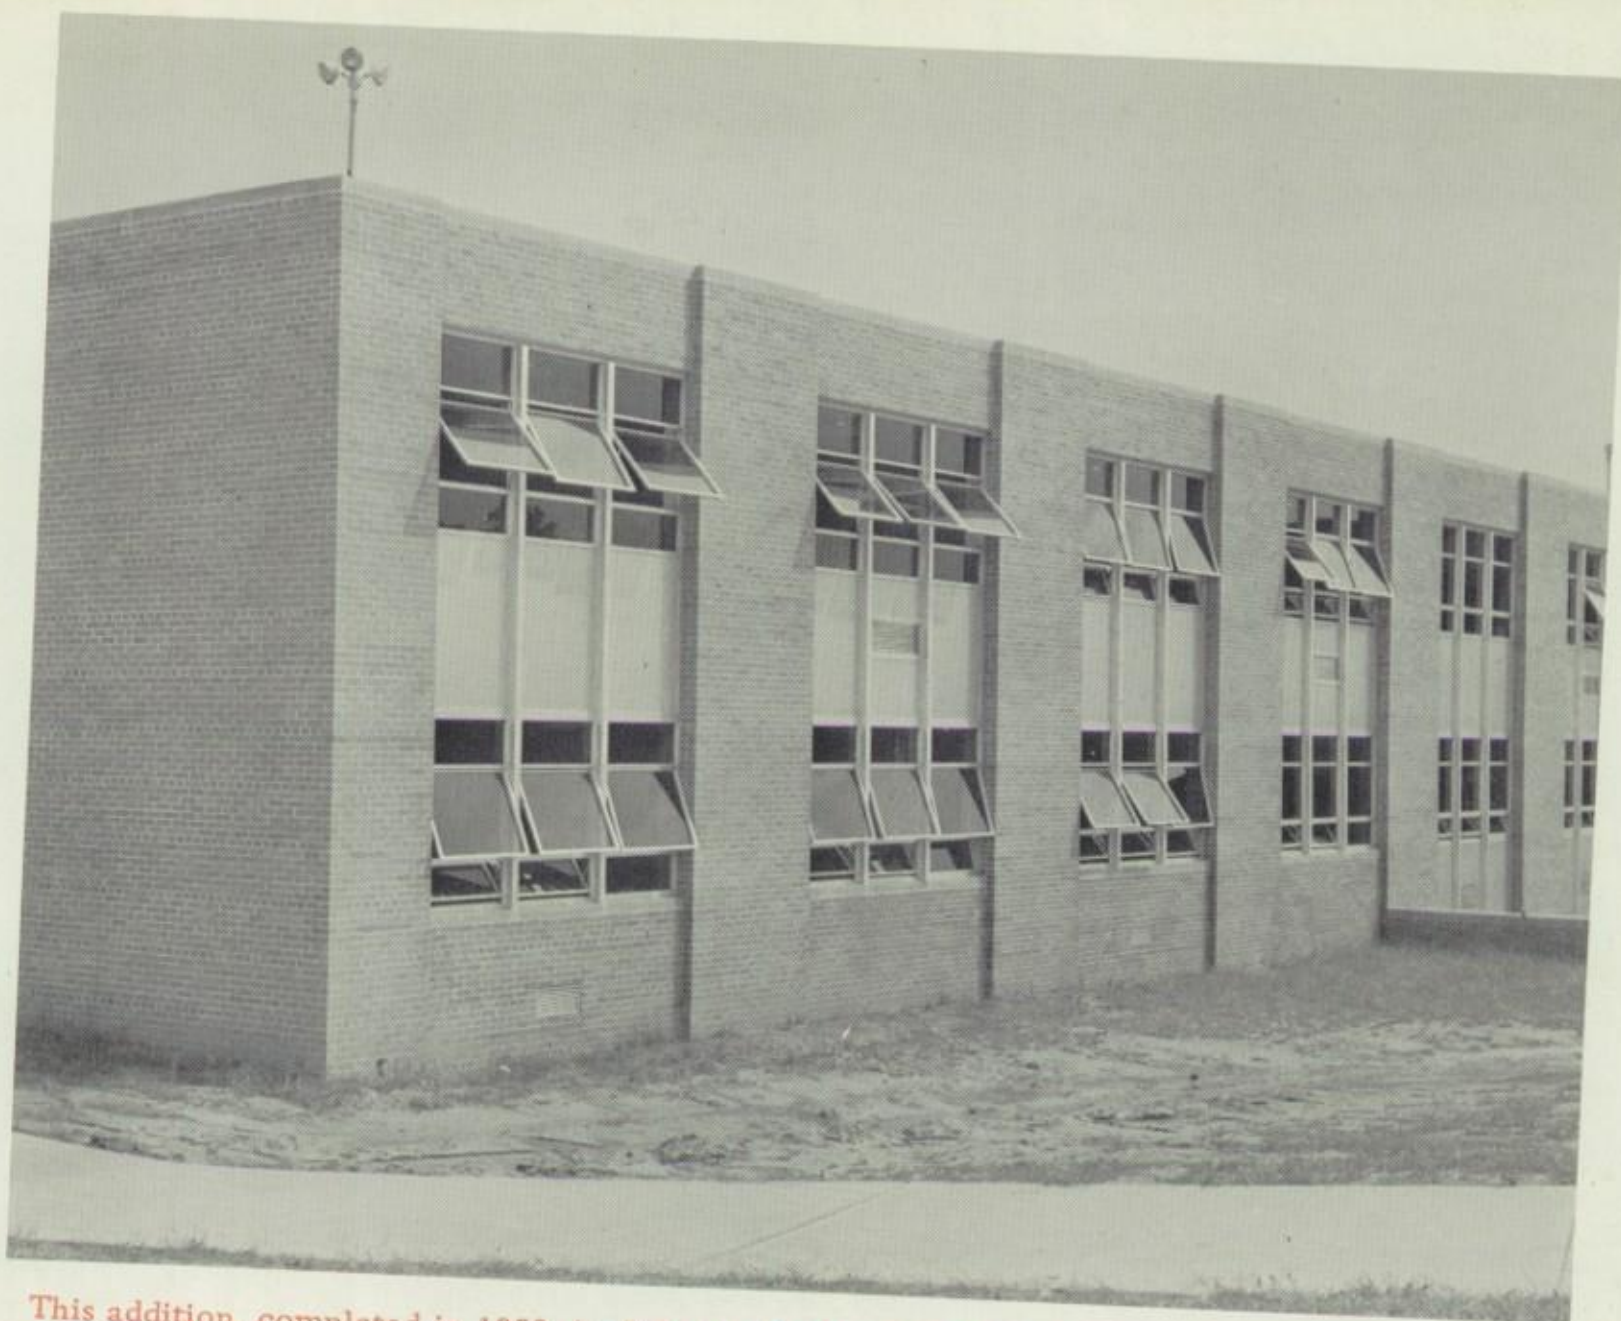

This was the fantastic year that brought with it rockets to the moon and pictures of the farside of our natural, but now not lonely, satellite. Could this be the beginning of the Space Age? Certainly! This was the era when people looked to the future as well as the past.

This was the year when Jennings High School became newly equipped with more modern classrooms and equipment. To an optimistic and advancing student body this could mean an exuberant and prolific year. The students have approached this opportunity with alacrity and have overcome any unfamiliarity which may have existed in our new building.

We, the Jen Echo Staff, in keeping with this trend, hope to use our Annual to communicate not only what this year has given us to remember but also the contributions this year has made to our future days. It is our wish to show how this year has helped us to meet the perplexities of joining with the people of our country in the purpose of keeping scientifically abreast of other nations, advancing our civilization, and living in harmony with one another.

This addition, completed in 1959, includes eight classrooms, a library, guidance office, cafeteria, and several conference rooms.

The new addition links the auditorium and the original building.

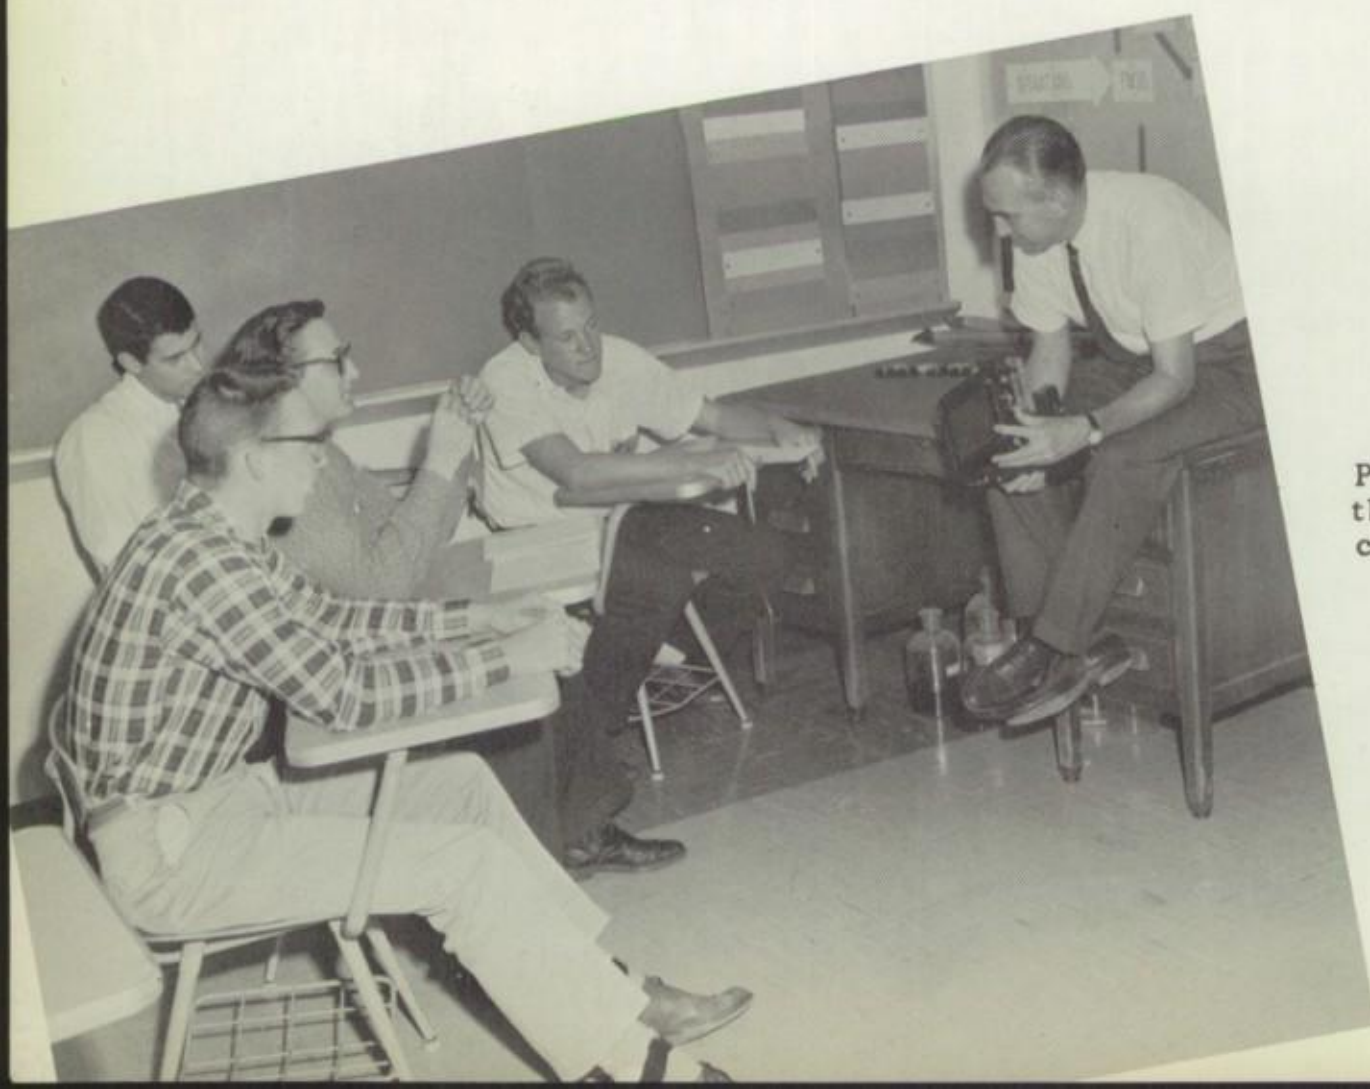

Jim Wells, the only boy in this particular Senior English class, points out to the girls the road Chaucer's Canterbury pilgrims took.

In Colorful

French students learn correct pronunciation by recording and playing back their voices.

Art class does ceramic sculpting. Students are involved with three dimensional compositions using two figures interacting.

Classrooms,

Jennings students have reason to be proud of their school as it is today. The new addition has given us, among other facilities, twelve modern classrooms.

Some of the attractive features are: comfortable chairs, adjustable desks that may be lowered to fit the student, and soft pastel colored walls with draperies which add highlights to the room and aid in showing motion pictures. To insure safety, the floors are made of fireproof, reinforced concrete blocks of varying colors.

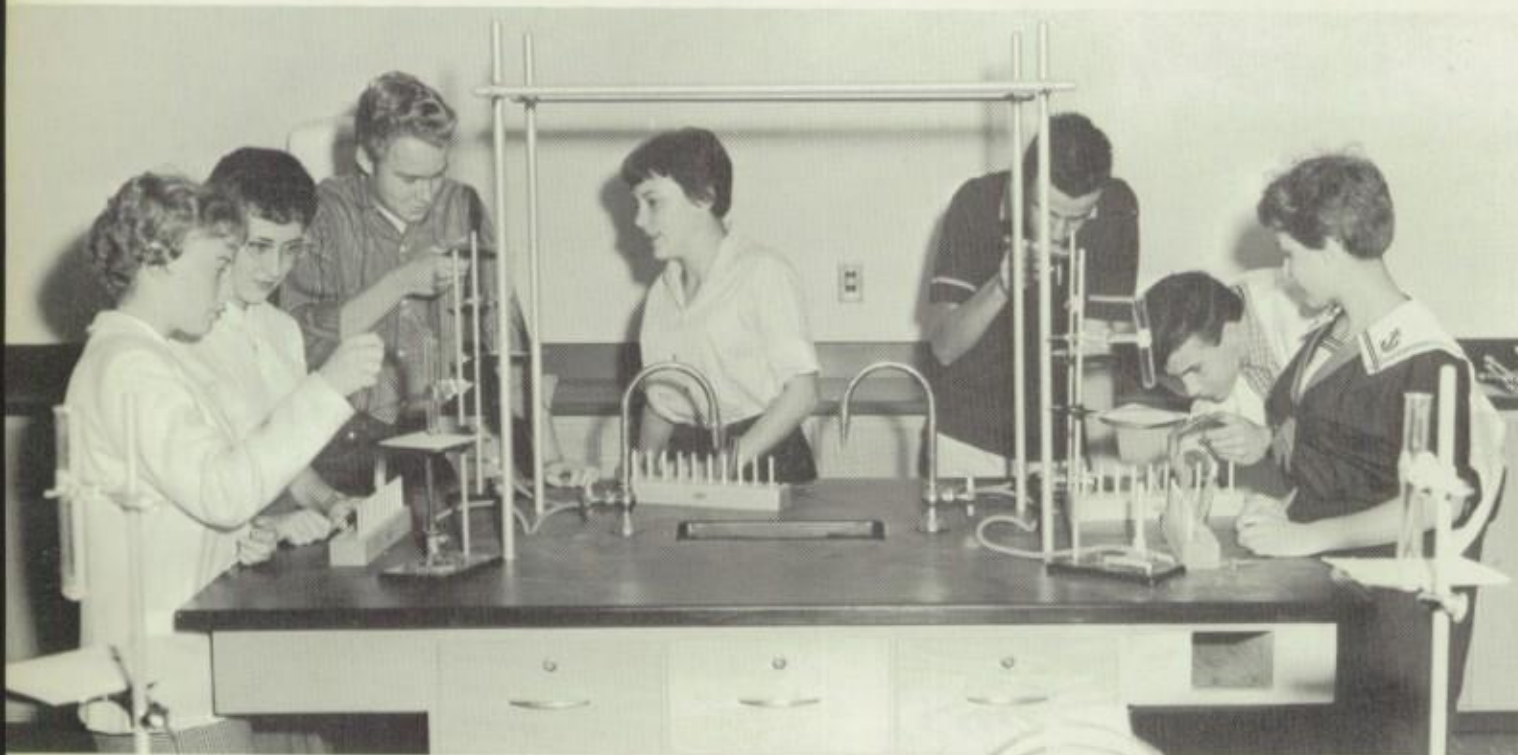

Such physical advantages should contribute to a sincere desire on the part of students to learn and to reflect credit on a community which has made them possible.

in a modern Science Laboratory,

Chemistry students Sharon Bruer, Sharon Minkemann, Warner Minnis, Kathy Schade-man, Ken Cherry, Bob Keymer, and Carol Bloecher are trying to find out what is in a test tube.

in attractive settings for math and language classes,

Paul Taylor explains the principle of congruence in plane geometry to interested listeners.

Spanish class reads aloud from exercises in the book.

Industrious students make use of library facilities.

a Spacious Library,

A privilege enjoyed currently and one envied by students of former years is that of studying in our comfortable, attractive, modern library. How different from the crowded condition in the old Study Hall!

With fluorescent lighting, softly tinted walls whose hues vary with the changing shadows of the day, new tables and chairs of blond wood, and, most important, room to spread one's books and papers without interfering with the work of another--all these make studying so much easier! We now understand what Shakespeare meant when he wrote, "Come and take choice of all my library, And so beguile thy sorrow."

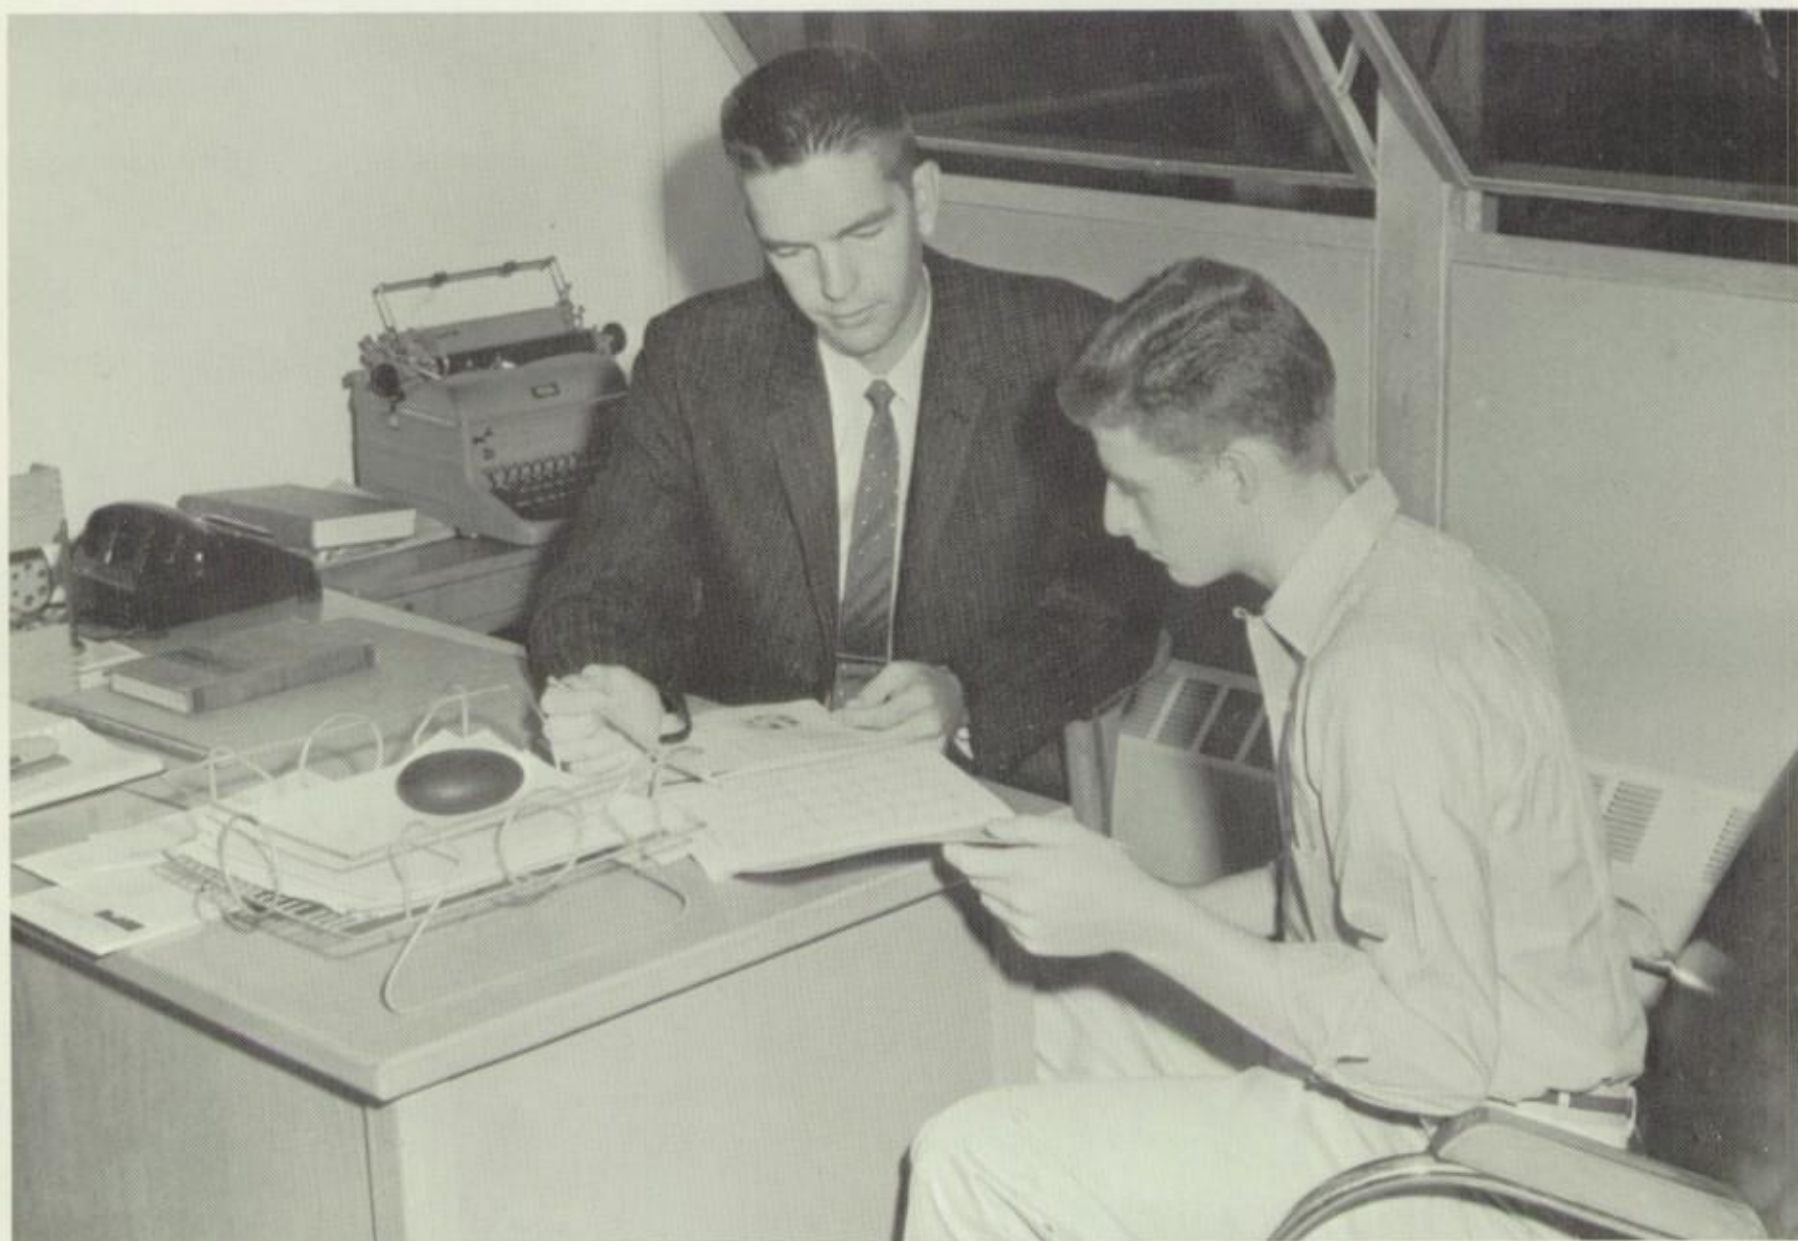

Library Club member, Sharon Mahlandt, checks out a book to Kathy Bohnenkamp, while Jo Ann Zeilman Checks in magazines.

Mrs. Krebs makes requisition list for new books and magazines.

in the Guidance Office,

Larry Doll listens attentively as Mr. Livingston advises him on college entrance requirements.

Those searching for guidance may now find Mr. Livingston on the first floor of the new addition.

Because so many students seek his services, a waiting room adjoining the new guidance office is also available.

Situated in a well lighted, softly tinted room with a view overlooking the Clifton Street side of our school, he carries on his continuous task of helping Jennings students.

An important function of the Guidance Department is the testing program which determines individual interests and abilities and indicates aptitudes.

Another service is that of personal counseling whereby a student is guided toward the solution of his personal problems; he may be assisted in choosing a college appropriate to his income, or in selecting a career compatible with his ability.

Last, the Guidance Director attempts a follow-up service by keeping in touch with our graduates.

Split level steps add a modernistic slant to our corridors and avoid traffic jams. This improves congested conditions which formerly took place between classes.

Corridors,

Bob Strube is the first student to be served at the opening of the cafeteria on the first day of school, September 7, 1959.

To Jennings High students one of the most memorable events of the current year was the completion of the cafeteria. Because of its pleasant atmosphere, lunchtime now seems so much more enjoyable. The convenience provided by the cafeteria and its modern facilities, such as the malted milk dispenser, have made a big hit at Jennings.

Looking back on the past years, we remember dashing through rain or trudging in snow to the elementary building for our lunch. No longer is this necessary. Now it is possible to walk through the corridors, down the steps, and right into our new cafeteria.

and in the New Cafeteria!

Lunchtime in the cafeteria provides an opportunity for friends to get together.

Administration and Faculty

When considering the essentials of an education, many factors come to mind. Among these are the buildings in which classes are held, text books, classroom facilities, and the administration and faculty; the most important being the faculty and administration. They provide the foundation of our education by not only instructing but by inspiring and guiding us. Their work does not stop in the classrooms but also consists of hours of grading papers, planning lessons, and preparing aids for our education. The administration and faculty are artists, shaping living material into solid citizens.

These leaders work

Mr. Wehmeier works at his desk in Central Office.

Years of study and experience are behind Mr. A. E. Wehmeier, our superintendent of schools. He received his high school education in Troy, Illinois and earned the Bachelor of Arts degree at McKendree College. He also attended the University of Illinois where he received his Master of Arts degree. Mr. Wehmeier did additional graduate work at other colleges such as the University of Missouri and the Colorado State Teachers College.

Before coming to Jennings, Mr. Wehmeier was a mathematics and social studies teacher, coach, principal, and assistant-superintendent at several other schools. Upon coming to Jennings in 1952, Mr. Wehmeier became principal of the Junior-Senior High Schools. He advanced from assistant-superintendent to the position of superintendent in 1957.

Mr. Wehmeier has expended many hours of hard work in the building project and educational program. He is always ready to further improvement in our schools.

SEATED: Mr. George L. Weaver, Vice President; Mr. A. A. Meyer, President; Mr. Robert Feld, Secretary.
STANDING: Mr. Melvin E. Schlumberger, Director; Mr. A. W. Syrett, Director; Mr. W. C. Braihland, Treasurer.

to improve Jennings Schools

To guide students in their school life, thereby enabling them to plan successful careers after graduation, is the sincere goal of our principal, Mr. Elmer Belsha. Upon graduating from Central High in St. Louis, he attended Washington University where he received the Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts degrees. He also attended the University of New York while serving in the Armed Forces of the United States.

Mr. Belsha came to Jennings in 1948 as a social living teacher for the Junior High. Later he served in varying capacities as teacher-counselor for the Senior High, principal of Junior High; and he is now dedicated to the multiplicity of duties required of the conscientious principal of our Senior High.

Mr. Gene McKinney came to Jennings as principal of the Jennings Junior High in 1957. Graduating from high school in Licking, Missouri, Mr. McKinney attended the University of Missouri where he took courses that qualified him for the Bachelor of Science and Master of Education degrees.

His first teaching position was at Farmington, Missouri as a science teacher. Later Mr. McKinney became principal of the Licking High School. He served as principal of the Fulton High School before coming to Jennings.

An active leader, Mr. McKinney has been instrumental in steering Junior High students in the right direction for their future careers.

Loyal supporters of our school, P.T.A. members pay dues and enroll at the first meeting of the school year.

Students

Jennings students are a mixture of different personalities, abilities, and ambitions, sharing the common opportunities offered them during their school years. Despite equality of opportunity, some will develop into tomorrow's leaders, while others will make good followers, both being equally important in forming a better world in which to live. Although there are many differences, they have a common bond. Through their shared experiences at Jennings they have formed attitudes and habits which they will carry through life.

The Class of 1960 "Brother"

"Oh!"

"Shut up!"

Virginia Dews makes Gay Pocock up for the part of "Sara".

"There's a lot more to hold on to in a car!"

Thirty-eight

An approving audience applauds vigorously.

proudly presents
Goose."

"Fifty-four, thirty-four, sixty-seven, twenty-three---hup!"

Wholesome, refreshing, and delightfully funny, "Brother Goose" is the story of a young architect. At the moment he is tied down with the responsibility of raising his younger brother Wes, and sisters Hyacinth and Carol. The result is hectic. Housekeepers come and go with amazing regularity. Helen, the latest one, is also unable to cope with the harum-scarum family; and Jeff, in desperation, does sewing, cooking, and cleaning, while he tries to design houses.

Everything goes along quite badly for the family until Peggy appears. She definitely knows what she's doing and comes to the rescue.

To complicate matters, Jeff's younger brother, Wes, has one prime interest in life--to make an impression with the fair sex; and he works unceasingly at it. Jeff's little sister, Hy, has a passion for football. She loves it just as much as she hates to do the dishes.

Then there is also Lenore, a stunning and somewhat affected young lady, obviously quite "lush" about Jeff.

A cute Southern charmer, who is the object of Wes's affections at the time, an overstuffed colored maid, a woman with plans for Wee Blue Inns, and an irate truck driver add to the entertainment.

Under the superb direction of Miss Aileen Cobb, the play was a marvelous success.

Organizations

Because numerous organizations are available for membership, students have an opportunity to increase their knowledge of a subject beyond the information taught in the classroom. These enriched experiences develop initiative and leadership and give a broader background by enlarging individual capacities for appreciation and enjoyment.

Officers: Larry Kendrick, President; Judy Hart, Treasurer; Sue Kasden, Secretary; Tom Henry, Vice-President.

Offering students an opportunity to participate in the functioning of some policies and to share in the planning of activities is the goal of the Junior High Student Council.

To become a member of the student council, one must be a good school citizen and have above average grades. Each counseling group elects one representative in the fall. Officers are elected in a school-wide election.

Among its various activities, the council sponsors school dances and a teen-town which is held every other week. It approves the class activities, holds locker inspection, and handles the sale of activity tickets.

Mr. McKinney is the sponsor of the Junior High Student Council.

To provide for student participation in school government and to establish better understanding between faculty and students are the purposes of our Senior High Student Council. Our organization, affiliated with the National and Missouri Associations of student councils, also takes an active part in the St. Louis County Suburban Association.

Among its numerous activities, the council sponsored the first dance of the year, selected cheerleaders, helped in organizing "College Day," sponsored the Spring Carnival, supervised "Pep Weekend," and assisted in the Christmas Project.

Each class elects five representatives to the student council in the spring. The officers are chosen by the members early in the fall. The student council is sponsored by our principal, Mr. Belsha.

Don Schlogl, Carolyn Baxter, and Gerry Wines plan layout for the second issue of the Growl.

To motivate students to write better and to report noteworthy events that happen around school are the primary reasons for issuing the Jennings Senior High Growl.

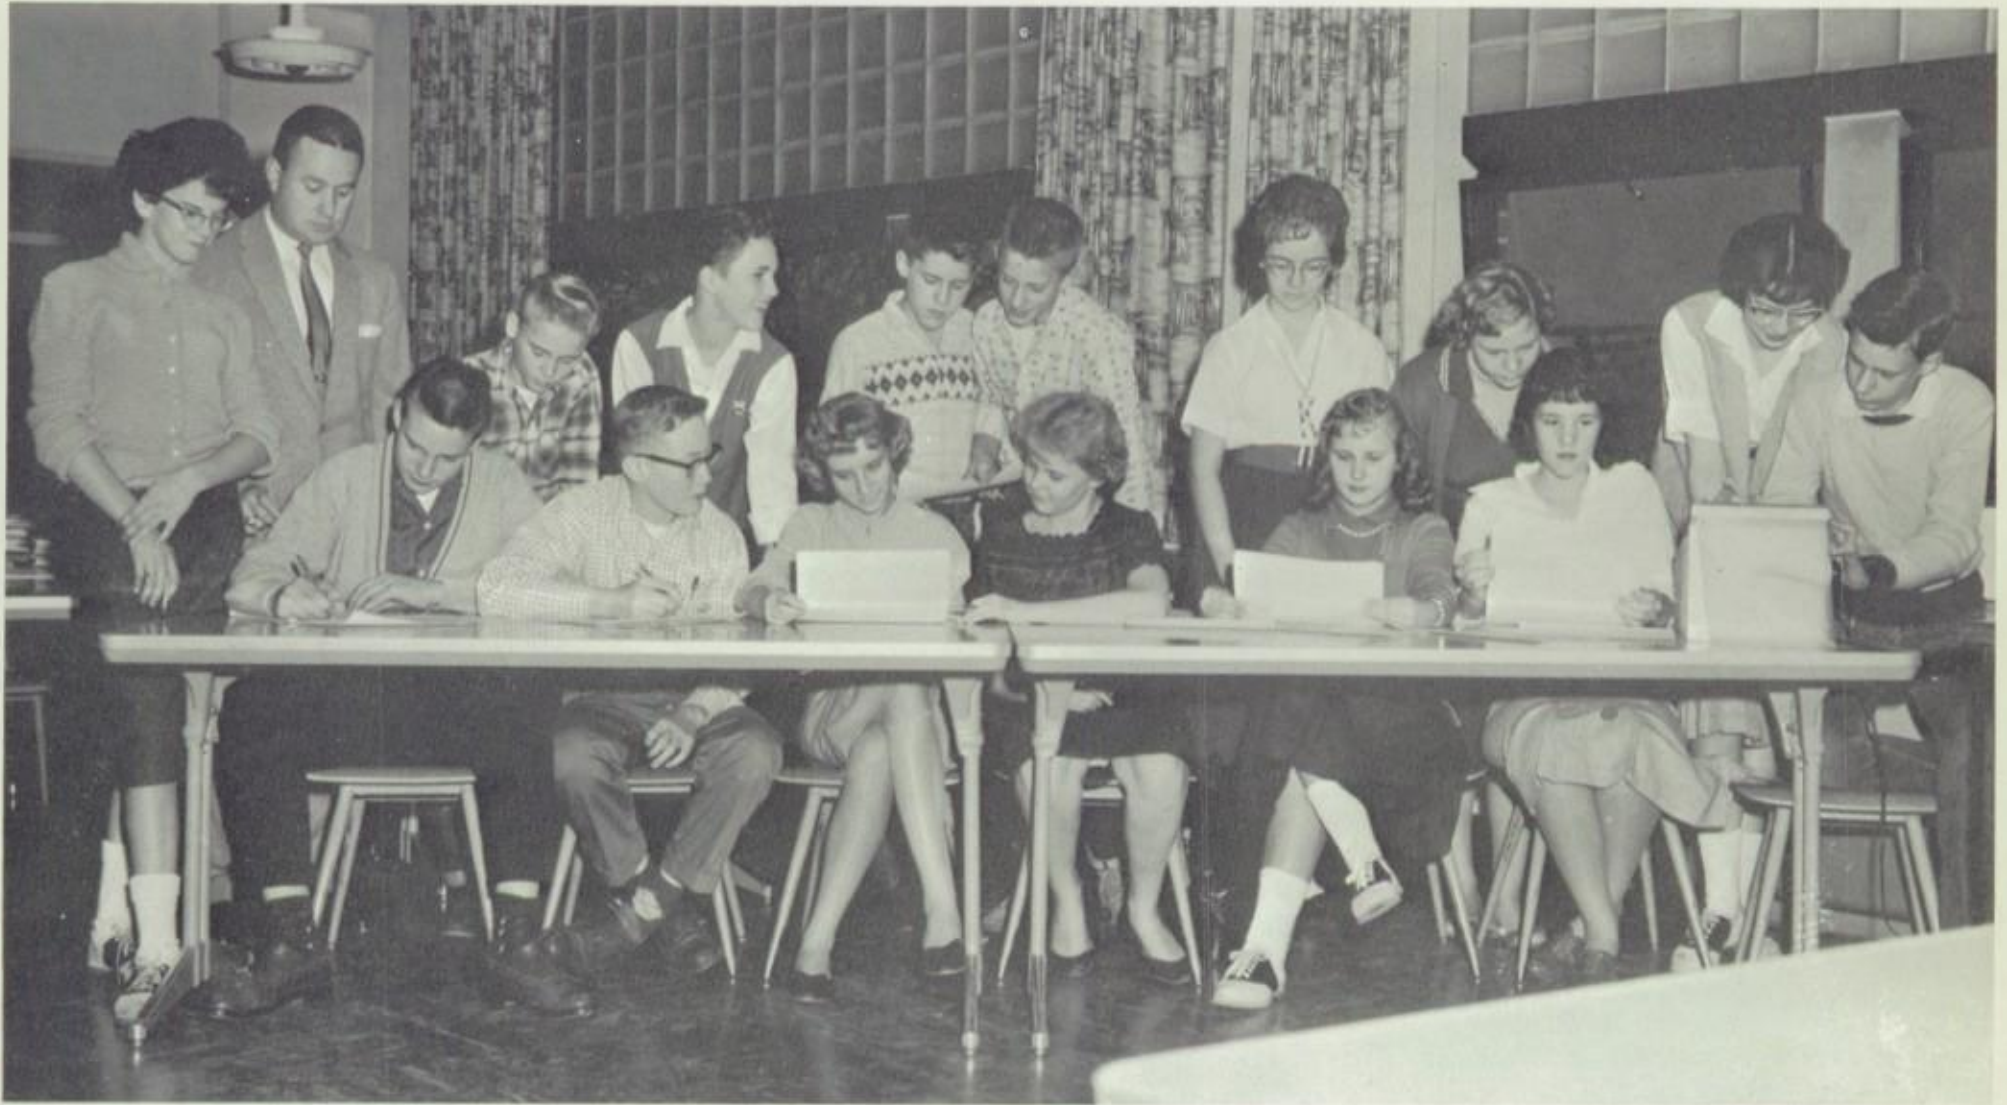

One-half credit may be earned for one semester's work. The class meets one hour a day, but overtime is occasionally required. Nineteen students are enrolled at the present time. Students develop the ability to draw vivid word pictures in an ethical manner that offends no one.

Editor, Doris Luechau, discusses next issue of the Roar with the special editors.

Under the direction of Mr. Seagrist, the eighth grade journalism class periodically releases the Roar school newspaper, informing the student body of the school's activities.

The content of the Roar is divided into three main sections: school news, features, and sports.

Articles in these sections are planned by the three editors and written by the staff.

To best fulfill the interests of the Junior High students by efficiently informing them of school news at all times through the Roar is the aim of the staff.

Alas for those

During the year the Jennings Senior High Mixed Chorus has provided excellent entertainment made possible because of the hard work and expert direction of Mr. John Maier.

Our chorus performed at various meetings of the Parent-Teacher Association, the Christmas concert, and a formal Spring Concert. In the spring the chorus also took part in the County Music Festival where it competed with other schools. In addition, the chorus made tours to two other schools, and entertained at a hospital as well. Pins are awarded to members who attend every performance. Carol Rhodes, Beth Hellwig, and Nancy Bowman alternate as accompanists.

A girls' trio, consisting of Karen Bengard, Jayne Clark, and Marilyn Syrett add to the delight of various programs. The trio has a repertoire ranging from popular songs to sacred music. With the help of their coach, Mr. Maier, and pianist, Carolyn Dixon, the girls present special music.

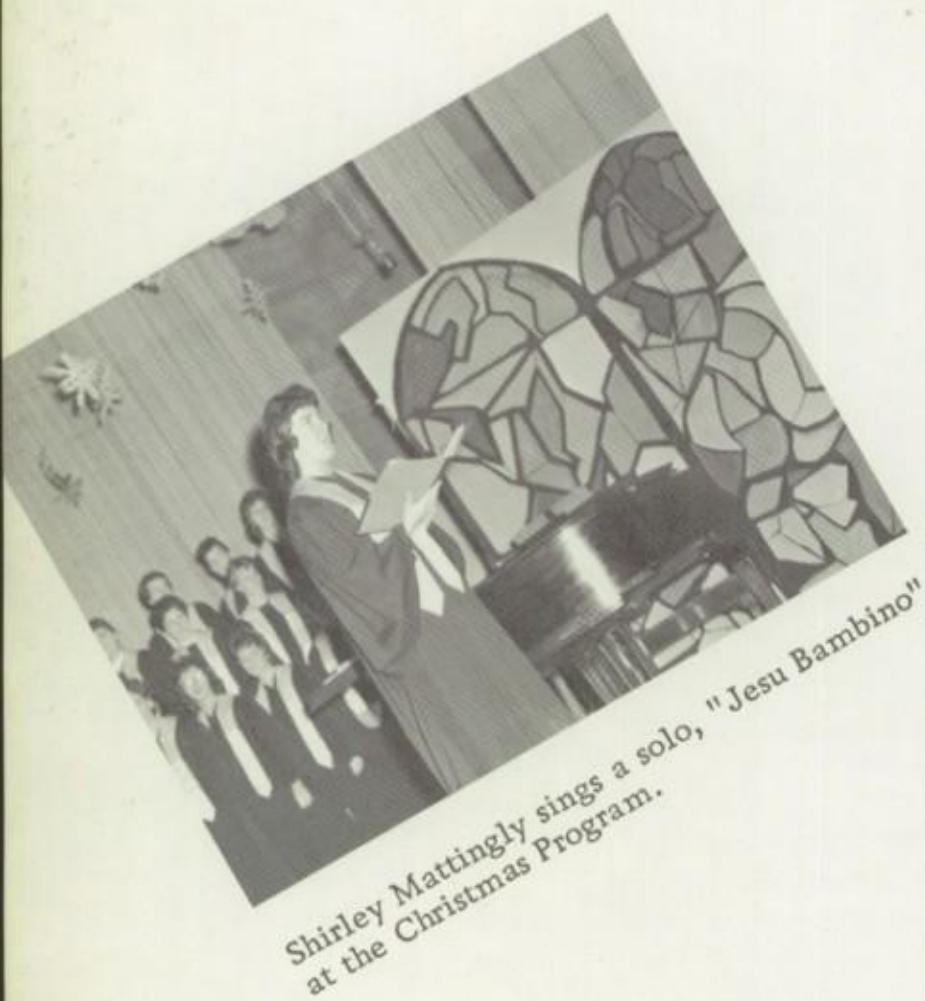

Martin Gassel, Jim Kramer, John Nax, and Jim Muskopf make up the boys' quartet. This group, formed shortly after the opening of school, made their debut in the opening show, "Oklahoma" given by the Mixed Chorus. They portrayed cowboys just back from Kansas City, where everything is "up to date."

Can it be "Sweet Adeline" the boys are singing?

Throughout the year, the Jennings Senior Band has presented marvelous entertainment for which Mr. Charles K. Schmidt, able and inspiring band director, is responsible. Mr. Schmidt and his musicians are an important part of the Jennings Schools.

The Senior Band performs in varied types of music selected to give each student complete expression in all instrumental music idioms. Since this group does not spend half of its year marching, more time and emphasis can be placed on musical growth. This is evident in the number of performances, tours, and participants in the all-county band-solo and ensemble festival, and the high classification of music that the band as a group enjoys.

Also, the band serves as a college preparatory class for those students who are entering college and wish to play music for additional financial and educational supplements, or for those students who want to major in music.

Talented groups merit our appreciation.

Nine members of our school band have won the distinction of a chair in the All County Band. From a group of students competing in the St. Louis County area, sixty are chosen annually. Those from Jennings are: Bill Wood, third chair trumpet; Craig Sergel, solo first chair, trombone; Ken Flory, solo first chair, clarinet; Al Meyer, solo third chair, clarinet; Carolyn Dixon, solo first chair, baritone; Jim Meyer, second chair, second clarinet; Pat Buder, third chair, second clarinet; Shelby Dixon, fifth chair, third French horn; Ken Sinclair, fifth chair, third clarinet.

Ken Flory, Craig Sergel, and Bill Wood are members of the fifteen-piece All County Dance Band which plays for T.V. and school appearances, school dances, and concerts.

Jennings High School is proud of these students who bring honor to their school and to themselves.

Vocational groups

Under the present sponsorship of Mrs. Sara Krebs, Mrs. Eloise Dixon, and Mr. Robert Grace, the Otis A. See Club of the Future Teachers of America, now in its sixth consecutive year at Jennings, continues to aid members in exploring the field of education. Since selecting the right career is an important decision to make, the information and experience the club's twenty-two members receive is a great aid in helping them to decide if teaching is the right profession for them. Practical experience is acquired by providing FTA members with the opportunity to teach classes in the elementary school when substitutes are needed. In addition, observing classes and taking field trips give members a good glimpse of what the teaching profession has to offer.

The Library Club is a service group which assists students in using the library.

Promotion of debate, oratory, and public speaking by encouraging a spirit of fellowship and by conferring upon deserving candidates membership in a national organization is the purpose of the National Forensic League.

Participating in many debates in the St. Louis area, members also attend annual events such as the Student Congress at Jefferson City, Missouri and the State Debate Tournament at Columbia, Missouri. Each spring a Junior Town Meeting of the Air affords additional experience.

Any member of Speech and Debate Class who has received the Degree of Merit, which is worth 25 points, may obtain membership in the League. Other degrees are: Degree of Honor, 75 points; Degree of Excellence, 150 points; Degree of Distinction, 250 points.

A privilege appreciated by National Forensic League Members is the opportunity to attend the National Forensic League State Tournament at Columbia, Missouri, each year. Miss Cecil Elsie Puckett is debate coach and NFL sponsor.

Enthusiastic members of the Girls' Athletic Association strive to earn points for our traditional "J."

To earn points, members must actively participate in the G.A.A. program involving such intramural activities as table tennis, tennis, field hockey, softball, and basketball. The last four mentioned are also Varsity sports.

Awarded for 400 points is the Junior "J"; 1,200 points, the Varsity "J"; 2,000 points, the old English "J"; and 2,500 points, the G.A.A. Key.

Capable officers serving currently are: President, Kathy Schademann; Vice-President, Sue Grosch; Secretary-Treasurer, Carol Rhodes.

G.A.A.'s initial purpose is to provide opportunity for participation in a wide variety of sports and recreational activities for the girls of Jennings. Its colors are our cherished red and white.

As their Christmas project, G.A.A. girls sponsored a drive for toys and clothing for children and needy families. Twenty-two boxes of toys and fourteen large boxes of clothing were distributed to these various organizations: Grace Hill House, General Protestant Children's Homes, and Christian Children's Fund.

Social Life

A facet of educational life at Jennings High School which serves an important purpose in developing mature, poised individuals, who have the qualifications necessary to get along in the world of tomorrow, is the experience gained from our social activities. Included in these activities are the dances, parties, teas, and clubs which encourage students to become better acquainted with others and develop a greater understanding of those of different backgrounds.

Entering the gym on the evening of May 8, 1959, guests were immediately transported into a Mardi Gras atmosphere. This effect, achieved after much deliberation and months of preliminary preparation, grew out of the hard work of the Junior Class. Armed with crepe paper, serpentine, confetti, and staplers, the Juniors began decorating a week before the Prom.

Green, pink, and white paper, hanging in profusion, gave a moss-like effect; a fountain spurting misty sprays, tables decorated with confetti, serpentine, carnival hats, the bandstand representing a Mardi Gras float, the throne area composed of a mint-green background with pastel-colored flowers, and comedy and tragedy masks--all these enhanced the feeling of being in New Orleans during the carnival season.

Sophomores, dressed in masquerade costumes, served a delicious French meal. After dinner, the guests danced to the music of Russ David and his band.

At the stroke of midnight, the celebration reached its climax! Breathlessly the crowd waited as the long procession of page and squire, retiring queen, maids, and escorts began. Finally, the revelation came--her majesty, Miss Marilyn Syrett, was the choice of the Junior Class. Queen Marilyn was escorted by Mr. Bob Brown.

Bulldogs win

Color day had arrived. That was evident from the moment we came to school that Friday morning, January 22. Students, resplendent in all shades of red and girls wearing beautiful chrysanthemums, which were sold by the Pep Club, added to the school spirit.

Seniors sponsored Friday night's activities. A large crowd gathered to see the huge bonfire at which the Berkeley Bulldog burned in effigy. Following the bonfire, Jennings fans cheered our team on to Victory. A sock-hop, at which Jennings played host to Berkeley, concluded the evening.

To wind up Pep Weekend, the Juniors planned and carried out the annual Basketball Dance. Maids and escorts were selected from each class by fellow classmates. The only requirement for nomination was that the escorts and king be members of the basketball teams. Seniors chose the King and Queen from members of their class.

Music provided by the High Notes added much to the evening's enjoyment. The climax of the evening came with the coronation of the Royal Court.

Jennings once again felt the deep bite of graduation with only two remaining starters from the team that carried away second place honors in both the North County League and tournament. Though basically a young team, under the fine coaching of Mr. Grace, the team was soon hitting its full stride.

Starting slowly in the pre-season games, Jennings lost to highly rated St. Charles 57-40, Riverview 64-45, Normandy 70-59, and a heartbreaker to Western Military Academy 45-44, but decisively beat Ritneour 58-48.

In the first league encounter, Jennings was declared winner over Kinloch due to Kinloch's forfeiture. Jennings continued its streak in league play extending its record to 7-1 with the one loss being to Wellston 83-47. At the end of league play, the final results put Jennings along with Pattonville, and Berkeley in a tie for first-place honors.

In the North County Tournament, Jennings lost a thriller to a red-hot Berkeley 55-52.

"B" Team brings the ball home.

Like their varsity counterparts, the 1959-60 "B" Team had an impressive season under Coach Zemunski, chalking up a 12-7 season record. The Junior Bulldogs opened their season with decisive wins over St. Charles 44-37, Ritenour 47-34, and Riverview 40-29. They continued their winning trend by turning back almost every league opponent.

At the North County "B"-Team Tournament the Jennings quintet swamped Maryland Heights 48-34, but lost in the second round to Wellston in a close game 51-49. In the consolation round, the Bulldog pups were stopped by Berkeley 39-31.

Emerging as valiant wrestlers in their fourth year of experience, the Varsity Bulldogs have grappled through a successful season with twelve scheduled matches, a district, and a state meeting.

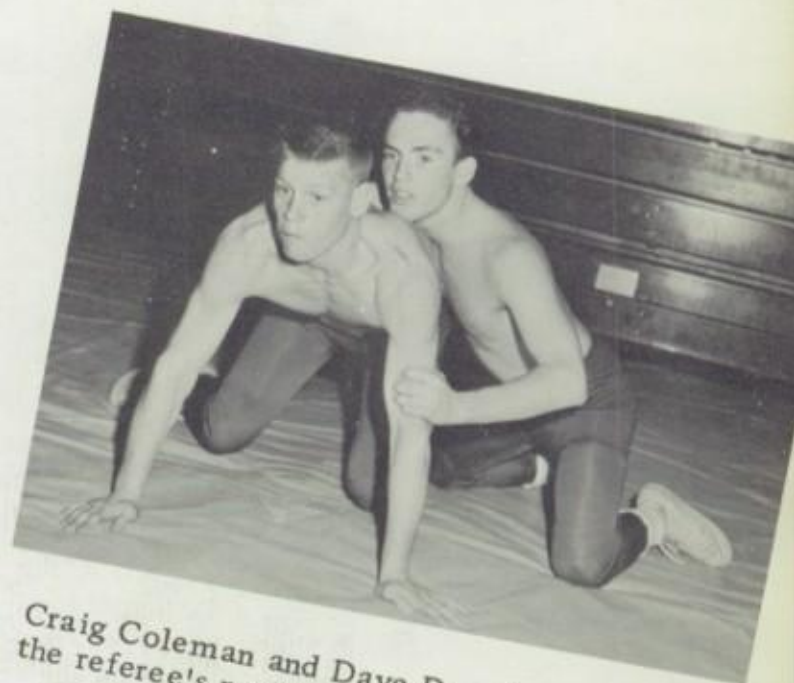

By coming in second in the district meet, Craig Coleman qualified for the state meet. Although Craig lost in the state meet, he has shown the skill of an excellent wrestler.

Co-captains Dennis Tebbe and Dennis Nicks, both seniors, will be leaving the squad this spring after three years of wrestling. Tebbe and Nicks also lead in points along with Dave Dye and Craig Coleman.

One of the highlights of the season was at the Affton match. Dennis Tebbe of his 154 lb. class pinned his man in 45 seconds.

Since a new mat has been provided, more boys can take part in the sport.

Mr. Arthur Kovell is the coach of the Varsity Bulldogs.

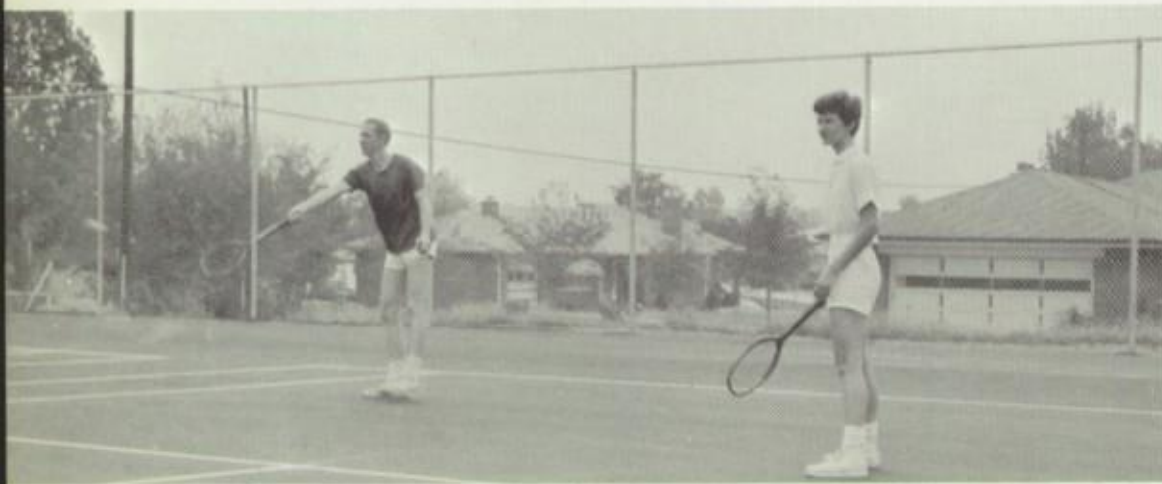

Craig Coleman and Dave Dye demonstrate the referee's position.

Intramural program

Miss Lucille Dye and partner, Ed Knapp, prepare to return a serve.

Mr. Grace serves an ace with Ann Monaco as his partner.

Forty boys divided among six teams composed the boys' intramural program. The teams and their records are: Games are played on Monday nights in the Senior High gym under the direction and supervision of Mr. Burgoyne who planned the program. It has become somewhat of a tradition, upon the completion of the season, for an all-star team to be selected by the captains and Mr. Burgoyne to play the "B" team.

ROW SIX: Emery, Smyers, Friemel, Pini, Harris, Koenig, Prosser. ROW FIVE: Steele, Foley, Lee, Schiller, Trittler. ROW FOUR: Dagger, Frentzel, Weckback, Cool, Gehner, Emmett, Trittler. ROW THREE: Howard, Gerling, Knapp, McMahon, Zboyovski, Graf. ROW TWO: Rennecamp, Blodgett, Schneider, Hauschild, Cherry, Graczyk. Intramural sports make up an important part of the school's recreation program. Approximately 70 girls compete in this sport program consisting of field hockey, basketball, volleyball, and softball.

From the participants in the intramural program, the varsity teams are selected. The varsity travels to other schools for competition besides playing here at the Jennings gym and field.

Each intramural sport has two managers whose duties are to assist and work directly under Miss Dye, the sponsor of the entire program. It is the responsibility of these managers to arrange and prepare the equipment for games and practice.

Points for letters are earned by participants in the intramural program as players, managers, and officials.

Doris Haupt and Mary Carter enjoy an exciting game of table tennis while Verdel Barton, Judy Miller, Miss Dye, Barb Walker, Karen, Kohm and Sandy Knox look on.

Hockey, a sport well liked by many girls, is one of the most exciting and fastest-moving of any of the athletics in which women are participants. Such is the sport that occupies our athletic field from mid-October, when the intramural program gets under way, until the end of November, the completion of the varsity season.

The intramural program is designed for those girls interested in athletics not necessarily in a varsity capacity. Forty-eight girls participate in this year's program. Members of intramurals are eligible for varsity tryouts from which the varsity team is selected by Miss Dye, the sponsor of this group. Wearing the traditional colors of Jennings, red and white, the girls did a fine job, finishing with an outstanding record of three wins and three losses.

Following the hockey season girls exchange the outdoors for fun under our gym roof. Six teams of basketball enthusiasts compete with each other. When the season ends in late January, girls are eligible for the varsity tryouts. Of the forty-five girls who tried out, twenty were chosen as our varsity team. This selection was made by the Executive Committee and G.A.A. sponsor, Miss Dye.

Eight games scheduled for this season, gave the team ample opportunity to show typical techniques. Regardless of the record they brought home, sportsmanship and physical needs had been met.

After each game, the school which acted as the hostess provided refreshments and a social period.

Athletic Managers, Ann Monaco, Jane Quitzow, Beth Hellwig, Peggy Walker, Sandy Hagedorn, Nancy Bowman, Ann Sievers, Sue Middleton, Sandy Jones, Nancy Blodgett, and Donna Drew, confer with Miss Dye in regard to their duties in setting up intramural schedules and taking care of athletic equipment.

Our Final Look

As the school year ends and we look over the campus for the last time, the happiness we had anticipated now seems mixed with regret. Suddenly we realize how much Jennings High means to us and that its influence will remain with us for the rest of our lives.

In Memoriam

High school is a place where we develop some degree of maturity. One of the most difficult aspects of growing up is the loss of a friend. The entire student body suffered such a loss on Monday, December 21, 1959, when we learned of the death of Joe Rother.

A transfer student, he came to Jennings in his Sophomore year. As a Junior, he participated in C.O.E., worked at WESCO, and made a speech at the C.O.E. banquet. Interested in clerical work, he joined the Naval Reserve for training in this field.

A co-operative student, who liked and enjoyed school, Joe possessed those rare qualities of an inquisitive mind and a keen desire to learn, thereby earning the appreciation of his teachers. Considerate of others, he was popular with associates of his own age.

We are deeply grieved at the loss of our friend.
